SYMPHONY NO. 3

Although not programmatic in the literal sense, this Symphony took as its starting point the plight of the people of the Dead Sea Scrolls. They were an early sect of Christians (possibly the Essenes) who lived apart from the mainstream movement. According to a text I was reading at the time I wrote the initial material of the Symphony in 1987 (the middle portion of the second movement), it was thought that the sect was dying out and hid their writings in jars in the Qumran Caves in the West Bank. When I restarted work in 1988 with what is now most of the first movement, I treated it as the sect leaving Jerusalem and traveling to the West Bank. The second movement deals initially with their realization that they wouldn't survive with the latter part of it depicting their travails.

In many ways, this work was as much a struggle to compose as the sect's struggle to survive. I composed a large chunk of the second movement, originally intending it to be the beginning of the first, but abandoned it in late 1987, restarting the following summer. At that time I composed a similar amount of material from the new first movement in a loose Sonata form, breaking off at the recapitulation to work on the second movement, which I originally intended to be longer, but appears in its entirety (although altered) at the beginning of the new second movement. Again, I abandoned work in 1992 to complete commissioned work with more secure performances lined up. I took up the work again in 1996 to enter in a competition, completing the first movement (Exodus), but I ran out of time to finish the rest of the Symphony before the deadline. Around 2000, I made another stab at finishing it, reorganizing existing material into what is now a single large second movement. By 2001, I had finally found the final barline and input the latter part in Finale to get a better sense of what I had written over the previous 14 years, but there were still several gaps that I completed in pencil over the next year, but it wasn't until the end of 2014, that I resolved to finish the typesetting (in Score, like Exodus) and fill in the few remaining gaps, still tinkering with the orchestration after completing the first proof. The end finally came on January 2, 2015, nearly 28 years after writing the first notes.

I would like to dedicate this work to Dwight Oltman on the occasion of his retirement in May 2014. He taught me more about being a musician than I can enumerate here, and has supported my work even beyond my graduation from Baldwin-Wallace in 1983.

PERFORMANCE NOTES

1. Accidentals carry through each bar only in the octave in which they appear.
2. Noteheads connected by a solid line indicate a smooth glissando between the given pitches.
3. All repeat signs are local, in that they are only for the part in which they appear and do not constitute numbered barlines. In the case where they cross a numbered bar (before the closing repeat sign), the barline will appear as a partial barline. The passage should be repeated until the end of the line that follows it, finishing abruptly, unless otherwise specified. Local tempo markings are usually given, or are ad libitum. If a passage flows from a metered section, continue (individually) in that tempo with no effort to synchronize with others.
4. A slash through a beam indicates that the passage is to be played as quickly as is practical (unsynchronized if a 2) ignoring the general tempo. Slashed passages that begin with noteheads and continue without, should use the initial pitches randomly, repeating freely, although cycling through the set (i.e. the players should NOT pick a note and just repeat it).
5. Boxed passages in the piano, should be played inside with the hands on the strings as indicated. Keep the sustain pedal down. Unless otherwise indicated, the pianist should pedal freely.

Transposed score

Desolate, stark ( $\text{d} = 60$ )

The musical score consists of ten staves of music for various instruments. The instruments listed on the left are: Piccolo, Flute 1 & 2, Oboe 1 & 2, Cor Anglais (F), Clarinet (B♭) 1 & 2, Bass Clarinet (B♭), Bassoon (2. dbls. Contrabassoon) 1 & 2, Horn (F) 1 & 2, Trombone 1 & 2, Tuba 3, Timpani, Percussion 1 & 2, Piano, Harp, Violin 1 div. a 2, Violin 2, Viola, Violoncello, and Contrabass. The score is in common time, with a key signature of one sharp. The tempo is marked as "Desolate, stark ( $\text{d} = 60$ )". The score includes dynamic markings such as  $f$ ,  $p$ ,  $pp$ ,  $ppp$ , and  $con sord.$ . Special effects like "Glockenspiel", "Sizzle Cymbal", "Tam-tam", and "Sm. Sus. Cym (bowed)" are indicated. The piano part includes a dynamic marking " $\text{f dim.}$ ". The harp part includes a dynamic marking " $pp$ ". The violin parts include dynamic markings " $f^3$ " and " $p$ ". The bassoon part includes dynamic markings " $pp$ " and " $Cbn.$ ". The bass clarinet part includes dynamic markings " $f$ " and " $pp$ ". The oboe part includes dynamic markings " $f^3$ " and " $p$ ". The flute part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The piccolo part includes dynamic markings " $f$ " and " $p$ ". The cor anglais part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The clarinet part includes dynamic markings " $f^3$ " and " $p$ ". The bassoon part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The bass clarinet part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The horn part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The trombone part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The tuba part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The timpani part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The percussion part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The piano part includes dynamic markings " $f$ " and " $p$ ". The harp part includes dynamic markings " $f$ " and " $p$ ". The violin 1 part includes dynamic markings " $f$ " and " $p$ ". The violin 2 part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The viola part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The violoncello part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The contrabass part includes dynamic markings " $p$ " and " $p$ ". The score is divided into two main sections: the first section ends with a repeat sign and the second section begins with a new dynamic marking of "Desolate, stark ( $\text{d} = 60$ )". The score is transposed, as indicated by the title "Transposed score".

Tempo I (♩ = 60)

Musical score for Stephen Ferre's Symphony No. 3, page 45. The score is divided into two systems by a vertical bar. The left system covers measures 225-226, and the right system covers measures 226-227. The score includes parts for Picc., Fl., Ob., C. A. (F), Cl. (B-flat), B. Cl. (B-flat), Bn., Hn., Tpt., Tbn., Tb., Timp., Vibr., Pce., Glsp., Tam-t., Pf., Hp., Vi. 1, Vi. 2, Va., Vc., and Cb. Various dynamics such as ff, ff sempre, poco a poco dim., gliss., and Sizz. Cym. are indicated throughout. Measures 225-226 feature complex rhythmic patterns with eighth and sixteenth notes. Measures 226-227 show sustained notes and glissando markings.

Senza misura, colla parte

This musical score page contains two systems of music. The top system, starting at measure 213, includes parts for Piccolo, Flute 1 & 2, Oboe 1 & 2, Clarinet 1 & 2, Bass Clarinet, Bassoon, Horn 1 & 2, Trompete 1 & 2, Trombone 1 & 2, Bass Trombone, Timpani, Vibrato, Percussion (B.D., Tam-tam), and Piano. The piano part includes instructions for "Inside piano, with palm". The bottom system continues from the first system, with parts for Violin 1 & 2, Viola, Cello, and Double Bass. Both systems conclude with the instruction "Senza misura, colla parte". The score uses a standard musical notation with stems, clefs, and dynamic markings like poco a poco cresc. and (♩ = c60-72, unsynchronized).
