VOICES OF AFGHANISTAN

As America, after twenty years of waging a war that should never have begun, finally withdrew from Afghanistan, leaving chaos in its wake, it brought home to me that my country is incorrigible, doomed to ignore the lessons of the past and endlessly repeat the same mistakes. Feeling so powerless to effect any positive change, I turned, as always to music. With the world focused on all of the turmoil in Afghanistan, I knew that the greatness of Afghanistan's past was being overlooked – a country so rich in poetic and musical tradition. It was to that voice that I wanted to give expression and turned to poems, both ancient and contemporary, to set this music with hope that after so many years of horrific violence, the poetic soul of Afghanistan can one day be reborn without oppression, whether imposed from without or within.

Abu Shukur of Balkh

A tree with a bitter seed Fed with butter and sugar Will still bear a bitter fruit. From it, you will taste no sweetness.

Khalilullah Khalili

Oh' Great Mountain, reaching far into the sky! How long will you find satisfaction in self love? Though just a tiny butterfly, I am yet free, To dance on a flower head while you remain shackled.

I am the bitter fruit falling upon the earth. Thus in the clutches of time I remain. O spring of liberty! Your grace, what else it could be But to render this bitter fruit sweet?

What, Alas, has been my joy from the cup of life? Like a candle burning in the blowing wind, I tremble, I burn, ... I die.

Rabia Balkhi

I am captured by your love trying to escape is not possible love is an ocean without boundaries a wise person would not want to swim in it if you want love until the end you must accept what is not accepted welcome hardship with joy eat poison but call it honey

Four Landay

If you couldn't love me from the start, then why did you awake my sleeping heart?

I call. You're stone. One day you'll look and find I'm gone.

May God make you into a riverbank flower so I may smell you when I go to gather water.

My love gave his life for our homeland. I'll sew his shroud with one strand of my hair.

Fereshta Nilab Sahel Noorzayi

I want to leave this "home" and go to the grasslands, pack up and go to a place I imagine soaked in the scent of peace no? If that land does not exist I will go to the dust-scented desert, go no matter how many times they bind my feet, the ties will rot and I will go in search of a country of lovely souls. These colorful clothes did no good, I will go now robed in white. The lovers call: come! The time of farewells has come and I must go!

The poem "Farewell" by Fereshta Nilab Sahel Noorzayi is from the anthology "Load Poems Like Guns," edited by Farzana Marie, is by permission of the publisher, Holy Cow! Press.

A few words about (and by) the composer

Raised in the Bronx, Stan has been obsessed with music since the age of six, when his mother took him to Carnegie Hall and he was astonished and awestruck by a performance of "La Mer." While that obsession first took the form of playing piano at every possible moment (when not otherwise engaged in activities typical of a kid growing up in the Bronx of the 1950's and '60s), it was Stan's music theory studies at the Manhattan School of Music that converted that obsession to writing music – and to finding his own musical voice.

He learned the craft from extraordinary musicians: among others - Robert Helps, Leon Kushner, Ursula Mamlok and Joseph Prostakoff. Stan's passion for medieval and Renaissance music has greatly influenced his writing - a contemporary expression of ageless techniques based on melody, modal harmonies, and contrapuntal, extended, interweaving lines. Two main themes permeate many of his works - music composed in an attempt to translate something about the nature of the physical world, and music composed to inspire and promote world peace.

Stan's music has been performed the world over – from Ecuador to Poland; Toulouse to Tokyo; Brooklyn to Vienna – by such artists as Camerata Philadelphia, Camerata Arkos, Englewinds, the Pandolfis Consort, the Bronx Arts Ensemble, One World Symphony, violists Brett Deubner and Ralph Farris, and violinist Jorge Avila. Major works include three symphonies, ten string quartets, a nonet, concerti for violin, viola and cello, and numerous song cycles for voice and various instruments.

Stan's discography includes "remember" with violist Brett Deubner and pianist Thomas Steigerwald, "afterwards..." and "and I paint stars with wings" with Camerata Philadelphia, "Rustling Flights of Wings" with soprano Nancy Allen Lundy, pianist Stephen Gosling and violinist Ralph Farris and "At the Center of All Things" with music performed by the Diderot String Quartet.

"As I see it, as much as we strive to find reason and purpose in our having been born into this amazing, mysterious and awe-inspiring universe, that attempt is largely futile. It is however, the best part of our nature that obliges us to make the attempt, though the most we can hope for is to gain some small degree of understanding of the world around us, and, more importantly, of ourselves. To achieve this, we each approach the problem in our own way, uniquely shaped by our cultural background, innate talents and abilities, education and so on. For some, science may be the window through which they best perceive and interpret the world, for others, religion. For those to whom the world seems to express itself most clearly and beautifully through sound, music is the voice that speaks to us and through which we, in turn, best express ourselves. Now, I can write notes that will make pretty music because I've been trained to do so – but the best of my music has arrived, rather inexplicably, as part of a personal effort to understand the world and myself. It is, in a way, an act of translation. The world says something, I try to understand it, and then translate it into musical language. The particular musical language which I speak, is, of course, a product of my conservatory training and personal musical tastes, but hopefully, the outcome, imperfect a translation as it may be, will convey to others something of its original intent."

Stan's music is melodic, modal, contrapuntal, characterized by extended, interweaving lines. His musical influences span the centuries, and include Machaut, Josquin, Palestrina, Monteverdi, Lassus, Britten, Ives, Vaughn Williams and Shostakovich.
