We Will Not Forget

The origin of this piece is a jumble of things, over a long period of time. I've listened for many years to Armenian music. It is unique – and particularly so is the sound of the duduk, so unusual and full of passion. So the thought of writing music for the instrument has been in the back of my mind for a very long time. But more recently, both personal and world events led to my thinking of it again. The rise of populism throughout the world, the clear analogies between the behavior of the right here in the U.S. with Germany in the 1930s, the increase in anti-Semitism, all somehow linked to thoughts about Armenia and its sad history. In 2020, during the COVID shutdown, I wrote music setting poems about the 1918 flu pandemic, and Nurhan Armen, an Armenian conductor living in Toronto, accepted it for a future program. That led again, to thoughts about Armenia, especially as the singer who will be performing this music is Turkish, proving once again, that music is a bridge across cultures that have a terrible violent history – yet all that hatred can be surmounted by music.

As sounds of the duduk filled my imagination, its sad calls evoked feelings and thoughts about the Holocaust and the earlier Armenian genocide. It is the purpose of music, at least for me, to bring sounds into the world to heal, to bring solace, and as a direct antithesis to the murder of innocents that fill our history. As I wrote the music, it became a piece of remembrance. We can never forget all those souls who were murdered. We can never let that loss be in vain and we must do everything within our power to prevent it happening again. People will try. Those of us who can, must act to prevent them from succeeding.

The musical score consists of five staves: Violin I (Vln. I), Violin II (Vln. II), Viola (Vla.), Violoncello (Vc.), and Contrabasso (Cb.). The score is divided into four measures, each with a different time signature: 3/4, 4/4, 5/4, and 4/4. The first measure (3/4) features a half note G4 in Vln. I and a dotted quarter note G4 in Vln. II, with dynamics sfp and pizz.. The second measure (4/4) features a whole note G4 in Vln. I and a whole note G4 in Vln. II, with dynamics ppp and arco. The third measure (5/4) features a dotted half note G4 in Vln. I and a dotted quarter note G4 in Vln. II, with dynamics sfp and pp, and pizz. and arco. The fourth measure (4/4) features a half note G4 in Vln. I and a dotted quarter note G4 in Vln. II, with dynamics ppp and arco. The Viola, Violoncello, and Contrabasso parts follow a similar pattern, with dynamics sfp and ppp in the first two measures, and sfp, pp, and mp in the last two measures. The Contrabasso part has a pizz. marking in the first measure and a mp marking in the fourth measure.

A few words about (and by) the composer

Raised in the Bronx, Stan has been obsessed with music since the age of six, when his mother took him to Carnegie Hall and he was astonished and awestruck by a performance of "La Mer." While that obsession first took the form of playing piano at every possible moment (when not otherwise engaged in activities typical of a kid growing up in the Bronx of the 1950's and '60s), it was Stan's music theory studies at the Manhattan School of Music that converted that obsession to writing music – and to finding his own musical voice.

He learned the craft from extraordinary musicians: among others - Robert Helps, Leon Kushner, Ursula Mamlok and Joseph Probstakoff. Stan's passion for medieval and Renaissance music has greatly influenced his writing - a contemporary expression of ageless techniques based on melody, modal harmonies, and contrapuntal, extended, interweaving lines. Two main themes permeate many of his works - music composed in an attempt to translate something about the nature of the physical world, and music composed to inspire and promote world peace.

Stan's music has been performed the world over – from Ecuador to Poland; Toulouse to Tokyo; Brooklyn to Vienna – by such artists as Camerata Philadelphia, Camerata Arkos, Englewinds, the Pandolfis Consort, the Bronx Arts Ensemble, One World Symphony, violists Brett Deubner and Ralph Farris, and violinist Jorge Avila. Major works include three symphonies, ten string quartets, a nonet, concerti for violin, viola and cello, and numerous song cycles for voice and various instruments.

Stan's discography includes "remember" with violist Brett Deubner and pianist Thomas Steigerwald, "afterwards..." and "and I paint stars with wings" with Camerata Philadelphia, "Rustling Flights of Wings" with soprano Nancy Allen Lundy, pianist Stephen Gosling and violinist Ralph Farris and "At the Center of All Things" with music performed by the Diderot String Quartet.

"As I see it, as much as we strive to find reason and purpose in our having been born into this amazing, mysterious and awe-inspiring universe, that attempt is largely futile. It is however, the best part of our nature that obliges us to make the attempt, though the most we can hope for is to gain some small degree of understanding of the world around us, and, more importantly, of ourselves. To achieve this, we each approach the problem in our own way, uniquely shaped by our cultural background, innate talents and abilities, education and so on. For some, science may be the window through which they best perceive and interpret the world, for others, religion. For those to whom the world seems to express itself most clearly and beautifully through sound, music is the voice that speaks to us and through which we, in turn, best express ourselves. Now, I can write notes that will make pretty music because I've been trained to do so – but the best of my music has arrived, rather inexplicably, as part of a personal effort to understand the world and myself. It is, in a way, an act of translation. The world says something, I try to understand it, and then translate it into musical language. The particular musical language which I speak, is, of course, a product of my conservatory training and personal musical tastes, but hopefully, the outcome, imperfect a translation as it may be, will convey to others something of its original intent."

Stan's music is melodic, modal, contrapuntal, characterized by extended, interweaving lines. His musical influences span the centuries, and include Machaut, Josquin, Palestrina, Monteverdi, Lassus, Britten, Ives, Vaughn Williams and Shostakovich.

Complete scores are available at www.stangrillcomposer.com. Stan Grill is a member of ASCAP and a voting member of the RECORDING ACADEMY. His albums are available on the Innova Recordings and Navona Recordings labels.
